FROM THE RECORDS OF 1865

Notable Local Celebration of National Holiday—Odd Fellows Hold
Big District Gathering.

On the 26th of April, 1865, the Odd Fellows of San Francisco joined with the members of Bay View Lodge in the celebration of the 46th anniversary of the institution of the Order with a joint picnic at this city. At that time there were nine lodges in San Francisco, and all of these were well represented; three trains from the metropolis bringing down something like 2000 people, while the local lodge was represented by almost its full strength, and there was a large number of visitors from San Jose, Santa Clara and other points to the south. This gathering was held in a grove at J. L. Snow's place, near town, and the greater portion of the day was spent in dancing, music for which was furnished by two full brass bands from San Francisco.

At the meeting of the members of the Union Cemetery Association, held on the 22d of April, officers for the year were elected as follows: J. V. Diller, president; H. A. Schofield, secretary and treasurer; J. W. Turner, superintendent. The reports of the past year showed that the organization was entirely out of debt and had a balance of $63.50 in its treasury. At the same time there was much complaint of the lack of interest displayed by owners of lots, but very few of which had been improved to any extent.

On the 1st of May Dr. S. S. Merrill took charge of the postoffice in this town and the location of the office was changed from the Tremont House to Dr. Merrill's drug store.

The Fourth of July was celebrated here this year with more than usual enthusiasm. Preparations for the big event were begun on the 12th of June, when a mass meeting attended by a large gathering was held at the Court-house for the purpose of taking organized steps. At this meeting Dr. Merrill presided and T. W. Lathrop acted as secretary. After a short discussion it was decided to allow the fire department and military company to take the lead and that the citizens generally should join with them in a general celebration, and a committee of three, consisting of H. A. Schofield, Jesse Jewel and Theodore Finger was named to act in conjunction with these bodies, and an invitation was issued to residents of surrounding towns to join in the celebration. As soon as the committees were named they went actively at the work and prepared an elaborate program, which included a picnic at the grounds of J. L. Snow, which had become popular for such entertainments, and where on this occasion all the exercises were held. The great day was ushered in with a sun rise salute fired from a new brass field piece, which had been purchased by the citizens to lend expression to their enthusiasm on this occasion. At 10 o'clock a procession was formed, lead by the military company and followed by the pupils of the public school and the firemen and citizens. The procession marched to the picnic grounds, where the day was spent. At the grounds the exercises were opened by the singing by the children of the school of an ode written for the occasion by Mrs. C. J. McClaire, and a National anthem by the band which had been secured for the day. At noon a National salute was fired, David Jenkins having charge of the squad at the gun. The noon hour was spent in eating lunches, the crowd separating into little parties and groups of friends. In the afternoon an oration was delivered by Rev. C. W. Bartlett, and after a benediction by Rev. A. L. Brewer, the remainder of the day was given over to dancing in the pavilion at the grove. In the evening there was an elaborate display of fireworks.

At the annual election of officers of the Jefferson Cavalry on the 1st of July another change was made in the command of that company. T. W. Lathrop was elected captain; W. H. Shrieve, first lieutenant; J. C. Edgar, senior second lieutenant; E. R. Woodhead, junior second lieutenant. The sergeants selected were A. Ackerman, Peter Doyle, Thomas Dugan, A. W. Hunt and John Jamieson.

About the same time the members of Bay View Lodge, I. O. O. F., selected new officers. Those chosen were: J. J. Dorland, noble grand; H. A. Schofield, vice grand; T. W. Lathrop, recording secretary; J. S. Keith, permanent secretary; D. Jenkins, treasurer; and C. N. Fox, Andrew Teague and William Durham, trustees.

On the 1st of October Rev. G. W. Henning began a regular pastorate for the Methodist Church, his charge including this city and Mayfield, the services here being held every Sunday afternoon at the Courthouse. Mr. Henning had been appointed to this charge by the California general conference, which met at San Francisco.

At the term of the County Court held in October and presided over by Judge Horace Templeton, four criminal indictments were returned by the grand jury. Samuel Hall was charged with grand larceny, in the theft of a horse from Samuel Rice about a month before. He entered a plea of guilty to the charge and was given a sentence of one year in the state prison. Andrew Moore—better known in this section as Dr. Johnson—Lewis Ross and Cornelius Lyons, three men who had furnished considerable excitement for the community within a few months, were charged with burglary. The crime charged against these men was committed in July, when they entered the depot at this place and bodily carried off the safe, which they carried into the brush a short distance back of the building and rifled of its contents, securing a small sum of money. The trio had not been noted for the excellence of their reputations, and the crime was laid at their door as soon as it was discovered. They were captured within a very short time by the Sheriff and locked up in the county jail, from which they made their escape a few days after the Chinamen who had been condemned to be hung for the murder of a companion in the jail. These three, however, were recaptured and for safe-keeping were taken to San Francisco, where they were held in the jail until the time of their trial. Dr. Johnson, who was the ringleader of the gang, pleaded guilty and was given a three years' residence at San Quentin. His companions were convicted and each given similar terms in the penitentiary. This broke up a gang that had been a terror in this and San Francisco county.

Information for Fruit Growers.

The California State Board of Trade has issued the following circular which the newspapers have been requested to publish:

The Bureau of Entomology of the Department of Agriculture, after nearly two years work issued, September 1st a bulletin, No. 80, entitled, "The Pear Thrips and its Control." In this bulletin the methods which have been proved efficacious in eradicating the pest are fully set forth with instructions as to the time when the work should be done. The treatment for "Pear Thrips" applies equally well to those infecting the prune and other deciduous fruit trees.

The California State Board of Trade having been active in the matter from its inception realizes that the expenditure and work so far done will be in a large measure valueless to the fruit growers unless they individually apply the remedy and treatment advised by the experts of the Bureau of Entomology at the proper time. We, therefore, urge upon the fruit growers that inaction on their part will cost them dearly.

We have been advised of the existence and devastation of thrips in localities where their presence was not before suspected. It is therefore, highly important that orchardists in counties near to those where the thrips have been recognized should be watchful. It is also important that the work of eradication be made as complete as possible in every section, as one infected orchard in a neighborhood will be a nucleus for the propagation of the insects and their spreading out in every direction. It is, therefore, imperative that every grower should take action in the matter and urge his neighbors to do likewise.

The California State Board of Trade has secured an ample supply of the bulletins and will send them promptly to any grower who makes application therefor.

San Mateo Boys Acquitted.

David Sharon and Louis Ballard, two San Mateo youths who were accused of assaulting a Chinese last May and have since been released on bonds, were tried in the Superior Court yesterday before a jury. John S. Hogan of San Francisco as special prosecutor assisted the district attorney, while the defense was conducted by Edw. F. Fitzpatrick. The boys claimed that they were not at the scene of the alleged assault when it occurred and produced witnesses in support of their story. The prosecution relied mainly upon the testimony of a number of Chinese who contradicted the testimony of the boys. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

Cold Weather Advice

to all is to beware of coughs and colds on the chest; as neglected they readily lead to pneumonia, consumption or other pulmonary troubles. Just as soon as the cough appears treat it with Ballard's Horsehound Syrup the standard cure of America. Use as directed—perfectly harmless. A cure and preventative for all diseases of the lungs. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Ryan's Drug Store.

Co-Operation

We think we are justified in asking the co operation of the public to the extent of holding toward us a friendly spirit in considering our problems and dealing with personal and municipal questions which affect us. The co-operation which we desire is not the kind which would perform our work for us or lift our responsibilities from our shoulders. Rather it is the same appreciation and encouragement which is accorded any worthy commercial enterprise—whose labor and ambitions help to make the city great.

A city cannot get along without utilities, nor can the utilities exist without the city. They are mutually dependent. A gas company that does not do its utmost towards developing its city is working against its own interests; likewise a community which fails to co-operate with an EFFICIENT public service company sacrifices its own welfare.

On this point the Railroad Commission of Wisconsin, an absolutely disinterested body, has said: "The relations between the cities and the utilities operating therein should be harmonious. There must be co-operation rather than agitation. No one, it would seem, has anything to gain by the financial failure of public service corporations which are conducted and operated under ordinary or normal conditions. Losses to such plants are, in the end, likely to result in both public and private injuries. It usually means poorer or depreciated service, which of itself is a very important item. Even if it should enable cities to acquire title to their utility plants at comparatively low cost, such acquisition is not likely to prove a popular one in the long run."

 D. E. O'KEEFE, Editor and Proprietor

The man who could run a newspaper to please everybody went to heaven a long time ago.

The last report of the city water collector shows that there are but 23 vacant houses in Redwood City. Few cities of this size can boast of as good a record.

People of this city are anxiously awaiting for the realization of the promises of improvement in service made by the management of the Telephone Company some time ago. There is not the slightest excuse for many of the annoyances to which this community is compelled to submit.

A copy of the new city map, which can be had from Clerk Plump for the asking, should be in the hands of every resident of the city. For its size, the map is unusually distinct and accurate. Chairman Merrill of the Board of Trustees is entitled to the thanks of the community for the painstaking care devoted to its production.

The action of the City Council in refusing to grant an application for a license for a saloon where there was reason to believe that the applicant was not the real owner of the place was a wise one. This business should be in the hands of responsible parties who may be readily called to account for any abuse of this privilege granted.

The Supervisors acted wisely when they placed the application of the contractors for the construction of the new Courthouse Building for an extension of time "on file," and it is to be hoped it will be allowed to quietly repose in the custody of the Clerk. The business of San Mateo County has been transacted in a barn long enough.

The San Bruno Banner, the latest addition to the newspaper fraternity of this county, made its initial appearance last Saturday. The new paper is well and carefully gotten up and its neat appearance indicates that its editor and manager is thoroughly equipped for the business. With the support it deserves the Banner can do much for the upbuilding of the community in which it is published.

Peary Not A "Commander."

Probably but few people are aware of the true status of Robert E. Peary in the American Navy. The common use of the designation of "Commander Peary" has apparently lead many to believe that he is actually an officer of that rank in the navy, which is however far from the actual fact.

As a matter of fact Peary is not now, nor ever was, a commander in the navy. He is a civil engineer in the employ of the navy department, but has performed no service for the government for many years. Nevertheless he is carried on the payroll of the navy department with the rating of a commander, but actually has no such rank and is not in reality an officer of the navy. His pay rating as a civil engineer of the navy department is $4500 a year.

Pescadero Correspondence.

PESCADERO, Oct. 15.—R. E. Steele, Fred Bowen, Jay Steele and Will Steele were in town last week from Torquay.

School opened last week after a week's vacation.

Mr. Goldman has moved onto his place the Bradley ranch and is going to begin farming.

Fred Kober, Orin Beitel and Mr. Dean returned home on October 5th after a few days sport hunting quail. They were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Thompson while here.

Ruben Pringle of Santa Cruz paid us a visit last week.

L. Coburn and S. S. Upton made a flying trip to San Francisco and back, one day for the trip. Coburn says Hurrah for the Ocean Shore Railroad.

Dr. and Mrs. C. V. Thompson have returned home from a trip to Modesto and the San Joaquin valley.

Will Steele was in town from his Coastside ranch for a load of lumber and says he has a few quail left down his way.

Frank the son of John Barba got his leg broke while riding on the iron bridge this week. He caught his leg in the railing of the bridge dragging him from the horse. Dr. Thompson was called immediately and fixed the boy in good shape.

William O. L. Crandell was a passenger on the bus this week for a visit to his daughter in Oakland where he expects to remain during the winter months. We are sorry to have him go, he has been in our midst for some time and will be missed greatly.

John Lind has gone to Crescent City to join his wife and children. Grain is being hauled to Long Bridge in great quantities this season and it looks as though Pigeon Point was not in it this time.

Captain Perry of Santa Cruz took Mr. Linda place at Pigeon Point, while Mr. Linda is away on a vacation.

Horse Thief Captured.

Sheriff Chatham made a clever capture of a horse thief last week in this city. A man named Clarence Ettiinger put up his team at Flynn's livery stable and sauntered around town. The sheriff saw him and at once suspected him as a man who was wanted in San Francisco for horse stealing. The officer closely watched the suspect and next day he tried, to sell the rig to John Lown. Chatham at once arrested him and wired the chief of police of San Francisco and he at once sent Detective Bailey after Ettiinger who was taken to San Francisco to stand trial. He is an old offender and is wanted in many counties of the state. The horse and rig was stolen at Fort Bragg.

TRICKS IN SMUGGLING

The Way Uncle Sam Is Swindled Through the Mails.

WATCHES IN WEDDING CAKE.

A Scheme That Was Disclosed by a Gleeful Girl Who Could Not Hold Her Tongue—Gloves That Came One at a Time and Corsets in Sections.

Too few people think it a crime to swindle the customs. For that reason many bright and brainy persons think hard how to get goods from abroad without paying toll to Uncle Sam. As most of the successful operators in this line are women, who have more time to think about such things than men, it can be imagined that the customs officers have to be eternally alert to protect the government.

The avenues through the steamship passenger route are pretty carefully guarded, and as comparatively few people go abroad the great mass of dwellers in this protected land are debarred from sharing in the humorous little game of hide, the diamond or the silk. But there is another avenue that is being used enthusiastically by the anti-duty aggregation. It is the United States mail.

With the immense volume of foreign mail delivered to this country it is manifestly impossible to open and examine every package that seems to contain newspapers or merely a bulky letter to see whether or not some dutiable article is concealed therein. So far as it is possible, however, it is done, and the addressee has to go to the postoffice and pay duty on the amount at which the dutiable article is appraised.

The custom house experts at the postoffice have their hands full checking the clever moves of those who are constantly devising new ways to disguise dutiable things as innocent looking parcels.

"We used to pass cakes through without question," said one of the examiners. "It seemed too bad to lay hands on a Christmas pudding sent by relatives in England to some exile in this country. It also disturbed the sentimental side of a customs officer to demolish a section of wedding cake that had been sent from the old home in Germany to Fritz in America. So we let these sacred things pass through. But one day we had an awakening. One of the customs men heard that a neighbor had obtained a new watch from abroad. It had come through duty free, and the gleeful girl who was wearing it could not keep quiet about the clever way the post-office had been deluded. It seems the watch had been baked right into the cake and had come through without discovery. Now, this forced us to take some steps to prevent a repetition of such smartness, and ever after that we held on to all cakes or puddings that came in packages through the mail. A letter is sent to the person to whom the package is addressed, and this person (it is almost always a woman) has to come to the postoffice and cut the cake or slice the pudding right in front of the customs officer. Do we catch a Tartar occasionally? Well, you may take it for granted that any one who would try this trick is a Tartar, to begin with, and so we don't get off without a scene when the cutting time comes.

"A trick that fooled us for a time was the sending through the mail of one glove a trifle creased to give the idea that it was merely a worn glove that had been left in Europe by a tourist. With the glove would come a letter to that effect, 'You went away without one of your gloves, etc. Of course we passed it through unsuspectingly. But we got so many of these that it began to look suspicious. So we held on to one of them, and by the next mail there came another glove from the same address to the same person. The glove was the fellow to the other. Then we passed another left hand glove and later the right hand glove to match it. The trick was simple and admirable in its simplicity. Gloves were being sent through in quantities, one at a time.

"But the queerest trick we exposed the other day. A woman was accumulating a large stock of fancy corsets without troubling about the duty that should have been paid on them. The trick was to send half a corset through the mail. We knew of no rule about paying duty on half a corset. It appeared to us to be a mere remnant of the up to date woman's attire and not important enough to consider as dutiable.

"So we passed the half corset along and thought no more of it. But half corsets began to drop in with all too great frequency. It looked as though some renegade stores had suddenly obtained considerable importance in some one's estimation. So one of the men put it up to his wife, and she took something less than a fraction of a second to puncture the scheme. The half corset was useless in itself, but when the other half arrived there was a French corset ready for wearing.

"We find fine silk done up in packages of hrets, watches, diamond rings and bracelets concealed in the leaves of books in holes cut for the purpose and separate diamonds hidden away in bottles of transparent liquid where the glass is scarcely visible. No doubt many dutiable articles escape us, but we are getting wiser every day to the tricks of the mail smugglers."—New York Tribune.

MOORE'S PAROLE ENDS

Liberty of Aged Convict Is Cut Short by Prison Board.

J. Wess Moore, the aged ex-convict who delivered an address in one of the churches in this city recently, and who has since his release from San Quentin, been endeavoring to benefit his fellow unfortunates through the organization of societies for the friends of the penitentiary, was returned to the penitentiary from Santa Cruz Monday and may be compelled to spend many more years in prison.

It is charged that Moore broke his parole in not going to work; that he borrowed money in various sums which he failed to return and that at the time of his release certain papers belonging to his parole were withheld from the prison directors. His case will therefore have to be given a rehearing.

Parole Officer Hanson, who arrested the old man at Santa Cruz stated that Moore who has been serving since 1906 for killing D. J. Hall of Trinity county in a dispute over a mining claim is a dangerous man to be at large and charges him with having a grudge against one of the chief witnesses for the prosecution of the murder case. Moore has maintained from the start that his action was in self-defense and that he held no resentment against the man whom he killed, nor does he have any ill-feeling against any of those who prosecuted him. He was sentenced to life imprisonment. Moore is a Grand Army veteran and is highly recommended by the prison chaplain.

His actions while in this city indicated that he is a far different man than the dangerous creature pictured by the probation officer.

Native Daughters Honor Pioneers.

Bonita Parlor of Native Daughters will pay its tribute to the memory of those who gave their lives to the civilization of early California. On Sunday afternoon a Mission bell will be erected at the junction of Mound street and the County road, to mark the El Camino Real, the highway trod by the pioneer padres as they journeyed to and from the ancient missions in their labor of love among the Indian tribes.

The event will be a notable one in this city and in addition to the Native Sons and Daughters it is expected that there will be a large attendance. The members of the two organizations will meet at Odd Fellows' hall at 2 o'clock and headed by the brass band will march to the spot where the bell is to be erected. Eliza D. Kiehl, the grand past president of the Native Daughters will deliver the address. Rev. Father Sullivan will perform the ceremony of blessing the bell and it is expected that there will be other speakers.

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend.

Popular Local Singer Ill.

The many friends of Miss Annie Rooney will be grieved to hear of her serious illness in San Francisco. Miss Rooney who was a Redwood City girl was one of the gifted singers of California and on all notable occasions her sweet voice was heard. It is many months since she has delighted an audience and all this time she has battled bravely in a seemingly hopeless fight for her life. Her physicians are in doubt as to what has caused her illness, and but little hope is held out for her recovery.

$100.00 Reward
would gladly be paid for a cure by many people who are crippled with rheumatism, yet if they only knew it, they can be cured by a few bottles of Ballard's Snow Liniment, and the price is only 25, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Ryan's Drug Store.

THE LUMINOUS HALO.

Psychic Explanation of an Oft Witnessed Phenomenon.
I was summoned one day to the Salt petriere in Paris to see a woman who lay in a bed in the dark. She was a woman whose body, nerves, brain, had been teased and tortured for years in psychic and occult experiment. What mental perturbation was racking that brain I did not know, and the physicians at her bedside did not know. With clinched hands and teeth and eyes open wide the woman lay there. Her breathing was irregular and not deep. What we saw was this: A luminous halo of a vague orange hue that circled her head, even as in the old pictures of martyred saints you see the heads mounded with faded gold. This halo was fluctuant. It came and went. It was a light that flickered, grew, faded, formed itself anew.

A miracle, this aureoled head? If you want to call it that. Words are not of great importance. It was a miracle when it glowed around the head of a martyr tortured in the arena, so tortured by pain and fear that his dissociated psychic centers produced the phenomenon of the exteriorization of luminous energy.

Perhaps it were better to call it at once a miracle and a prehistoric fact—a fact, that is, which is occult, but is in the way of becoming known. I asked Dr. Frere what he thought of this miracle.

"I have often seen it," he said. The field of his experiments was the madhouse at Bicetre. There many neurotic patients abide, and often in cases of severe headache or of religious ecstasy he has seen these fluctuating aureoles around the head.

"The rays are often twenty centimeters in extent, quite regular, forming a perfect aureole," he explained.

There is, then, a form of energy endowed with luminous properties emanating from the human body under certain conditions.—Vance Thompson in Hampton's Magazine.

Highly Encouraging.
One fine day, just as I was walking on I got the true (blue funk) and could not speak my lines. I turned hopelessly and with pleading eyes toward the leading lady who could not go on with her part until I had spoken; but for all help, she hissed at me from between her teeth. "Parle done, petit animal!" (Go on, speak, you little beast.) Of such was the "encouragement" I received on one memorable occasion.—Coquelin's Reminiscences in London Telegraph.

Both interested in Berkshires.
The Massachusetts maid was in a romantic mood. "I am dreaming," she murmured poetically, "dreaming of the dear old Berkshire hills of my native state."
"Berkshires?" echoed the Chicago youth, somewhat bewildered. "Er—was your father in the pork raising business?"
And the look that the Massachusetts maid gave him would have congealed radium.—Chicago News.

Atehson's Most Generous Man.
They tell of an Atehson man who was going down street with a girl. She was one of the kind who believes in the power of the gentle hint, and as they passed a candy store she said: "Doesn't that candy smell good?"
"Yes," the man replied, "let's stop here and smell it awhile!"—Atehson Globe.

WEAK KIDNEYS MAKE WEAK BODIES.

Kidney Diseases Cause Half the Common Aches and Pains of Redwood City People.

As one weak link weakens a chain, so weak kidneys weaken the whole body and hasten the final breaking down. Overwork, strains, colds and other causes lessen the whole body suffers from the excess of uric acid circulated in the blood. Aches and pains, indigestion, urinary troubles, and there is an ever increasing tendency towards diabetes and fatal Bright's disease. There is no real help for the sufferer except kidney help.

Doan's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys and cure every kind of kidney trouble. Kidney cures are the proof.

Fred Haussler, 101 Stambaugh st., Redwood City, Cal., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly worthy of the highest praise. My kidneys did not seem to get properly and the secretions were very untidy. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention I procured a box at P. A. Ryan's drug store. The results of their use were most satisfactory. I advise anyone suffering from kidney trouble to give Doan's Kidney Pills a trial. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents."
